

I personally find the calls take away from quality family time as they have a knack for calling during dinner time, bath time, and when I am trying to get the kids to bed. I also get frustrated having to be rude (out of necessity) and/or hang up on callers in front of the kids.